ERIKA BUD

CHILDREN'S BOOK AUTHOR & PODCAST HOST

At 18 years old, Erika started traveling overseas as an Au Pair. Since then, she has traveled to over thirty countries, living in both Spain and Australia. International travel is her passion, and Erika takes pride in the fact that by the age of five, her son already had two stamps in his passport.

Erika started the Travel Rangers book series and Planes, Trains, & Kids Abroad travel podcast because she hopes to ignite a passion for travel abroad in both children and adults. She wants to teach them about the fascinating cultures throughout the world and the many diverse perspectives shared by the wonderful people of this world that make it such an amazing place to live.

BOOK REVIEWS

Take it from me, an ex-pat Aussie: Travel Rangers: Mission to Australia is “bonza”! Bonza, is an Australian word for terrific, a most appropriate word to describe the content, colors, presentation, and experience youngsters will enjoy as they turn the pages. I cannot praise it enough. Erika Bud has found a superb way to help youngsters learn about other countries, especially with the inclusion of AR technology and lesson plans for teachers.

Viga B., Readers Favorite

A beautifully written treasure! Through very descriptive writing and beautiful illustrations, this book is brought to life. It's so hard to find good books out there that are age-appropriate, a little educational, and also engage my kids' attention. "Mission to Australia" has all that and more! It should definitely be a part of every child's book collection.
